Kira:

Good evening and welcome to the Neo-Futurarium. Thank you for your attention while important information is reviewed. Please follow along with the attendant located nearest to you.

Take a moment now to locate the most accessible exit. No. Not that exit. Not the exit of this room. The exit of your current lifestyle, your current habits, your current state of mind. If at any point you realize this is in fact an emergency, please use your most accessible exit.

We hope you are comfortably situated in your state of denial, but please adhere to these guidelines in order to keep the world running smoothly.

Your New York Times subscription serves as an approved means to appear engaged in the current political climate.

Briefly read the headline, tap notification on your device, then swipe left to clear from the screen and your awareness.

When traveling on foot or on public transportation, always wear protective headphones, so as not to encourage unwanted engagement with the world.

Be sure to reduce your waste by purchasing and using sustainable items when it is convenient.

Kira displays a reusable water bottle.

It is imperative that you do not contribute one more plastic straw to the trash pollution gathering in the oceans. Carry your reusable straw with you at all times.

Kira displays a set of keys with a straw keychain.

Simply take it out of the storage container. Pull gently on the bottom end to expand. Thoroughly cleaning after every use is optional.

In the case of an unexpected purchase, use the standard issue reusable bag.

A reusable bag stuffed in its pouch drops down from a dropbox CS.

Simply release the clasp and unravel from the storage pouch. The bag will inflate with use.

Kira slings the bag over her shoulder.

At this time make sure your baggage, in whatever form, is safely stowed away. All baggage should be kept to yourself. Out of sight, out of mind.

Remember DO NOT carry anyone else's baggage unless you can safely carry your own. If anyone leaves unattended baggage with you, please seek professional help immediately.

Always remember, help yourself before assisting others.

Once again, thank you for joining us at the Neo-Futurarium. From all of us here at the Neo-Futurists we hope you enjoy your journey to the end of the world.
